

Members of the Board of Trustees
Teachers Retirement Association of Minnesota
St. Paul, Minnesota

We have audited the accompanying the schedule of employer and non-employer allocations of the Teachers Retirement Association of Minnesota (TRA) as of and for the year ended June 30, 2024, and the total of the columns titled net pension liability, total deferred outflows of resources, total deferred inflows of resources, and total pension expense, current reporting period only, of the TRA as of and for the year ended June 30, 2024, included in the accompanying schedule of pension amounts by entity, and the respective related notes, and have issued our report thereon dated May 1, 2025. We have previously communicated to you information about our responsibilities under auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America and Government Auditing Standards, as well as certain information related to the planned scope and timing of our audit verbally on February 12, 2025. Professional standards also require that we communicate to you the following information related to our audit.

Significant audit findings or issues

Qualitative aspects of accounting practices

Accounting policies

Management is responsible for the selection and use of appropriate accounting policies. The significant accounting policies used by TRA are described in the related notes to the schedules.

We noted no transactions entered into by the entity during the year for which there is a lack of authoritative guidance or consensus. All significant transactions have been recognized in the financial schedules in the proper period.

Accounting estimates

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial schedules prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. The following is management's description of the process utilized in forming estimates for the total pension liability.

The actuarial valuations were based on the actuarial assumptions and methods adopted by the Board. In accordance with GASB 67, the total pension liability of the retirement portion of the TRA assumptions used to develop the estimate of the total pension liability in determining that it is reasonable in relation to the financial schedules taken as a whole.

Schedules disclosures

Certain disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the users. There were no particularly sensitive financial schedule disclosures.

The disclosures are neutral, consistent, and clear.

Significant unusual transactions

We identified one transaction meeting this definition relating to one-time direct state aid provided by the State of Minnesota to the Teachers Retirement Association of Minnesota in the amount of $176,166,838 as approved by the legislature in the 2023 Pension Omnibus Budget Bill (HF3100).

Difficulties encountered in performing the audit

We encountered no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing and completing our audit.

Uncorrected misstatements

Professional standards require us to accumulate all misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are clearly trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. Management did not identify and we did not notify them of any uncorrected misstatements to the schedules.

Corrected misstatements

Management did not identify and we did not notify them of any misstatements detected as a result of audit procedures.

Disagreements with management

For purposes of this communication, a disagreement with management is a disagreement on a financial accounting, reporting, or auditing matter, whether or not resolved to our satisfaction, that could be significant to the financial statements or the auditors' report. No such disagreements arose during our audit.

Management representations

We have requested certain representations from management that are included in the attached management representation letter dated May 1, 2025.

Management consultations with other independent accountants

In some cases, management may decide to consult with other accountants about auditing and accounting matters, similar to obtaining a "second opinion" on certain situations. If a consultation involves application of an accounting principle to the entity's financial statements or a determination of the type of auditors' opinion that may be expressed on those statements, our professional standards require the consulting accountant to check with us to determine that the consultant has all the relevant facts. To our knowledge, there were no such consultations with other accountants.

Significant issues discussed with management prior to engagement

We generally discuss a variety of matters, including the application of accounting principles and auditing standards, with management each year prior to engagement as the entity's auditors. However, these discussions occurred in the normal course of our professional relationship and our responses were not a condition to our engagement.

Our auditors' opinion, the audited schedules, and the related notes to schedules should only be used in their entirety. Inclusion of the audited schedules in a document you prepare, such as an annual report, should be done only with our prior approval and review of the document.
